Thirty years. Three generations.

A family story, shared with yours.

It began with Marcenia Cole

Rhymin' Simon began more than 30 years ago with Marcenia Cole and passed through three generations of the Cole and Ferruggia family before being shared with other families.

About Rhymin' Simon Productions

Rhymin' Simon Productions is a family-owned company that has been thirty years and three generations in the making. The story of Rhymin' Simon has been passed down and is now brought to life to inspire families around the world with a secret: kindness is the real magic during the holiday season and every day.

With the Rhymin' Simon book and plush toy, kids and their parents can create new traditions during the holidays and beyond, because with Rhymin' Simon close by, kindness is always in season.

Stay tuned for more stories and adventures to come—and remember: wherever you go, whatever you do, this rhymin' elf believes in you!
